Dear Postmaster General Brennan,

As the member of Congress for Virginia's Fourth Congressional District, I read with concern an article (enclosed) in The Richmond Times-Dispatch documenting numerous problems with mail service in and around my district. The article documents widespread issues in the greater Richmond area, including mail being delivered to incorrect addresses; mail being delivered to the correct address, but extremely late; and mail never being delivered at all.

Individuals and businesses rely on the USPS to meet countless needs; it is imperative that mail delivery services be reliable and timely. The problems I have described require immediate attention.

I understand that, as documented in the enclosed article, staffing and labor cuts have placed heavy burdens on the hard-working mail carriers in the Richmond area. It is critical that we provide USPS workers with the resources they need to effectively perform their duties, and I am committed to doing my part.

I am requesting information on what proactive steps the USPS is taking to address the mail delivery concerns I have outlined. If USPS lacks the necessary resources to correct these problems, or if Congress is failing to provide necessary support, please share that information, as well.

Please keep me updated on any actions being taken to address these problems by contacting Elizabeth Hardin, my District Representative, at 804-486-1840 or at elizabeth.hardin@mail.house.gov. I look forward to resolving these issues.

Sincerely,
